Brief Description of the University, Key Facts

Aalborg University offers both national and international students a broad and varied selection of programmes and conducts world-class research in selected fields. You can study at AAU in Aalborg, Esbjerg and Copenhagen.

Studying at Aalborg University is not about rote learning. Each semester, you will work closely together with a group of fellow students on a large written assignment. The study method is called problem based project work, or "The Aalborg Model for Problem Based Learning (PBL)", and is highly recognised both nationally and internationally.

Lund University has signed a Nordlys–erasmus+ multilateral agreement with most of the Nordic universities. This means that you can apply for an Erasmus+ scholarship instead of a Nordlys scholarship. The Erasmus+ scholarship is somewhat higher than the Nordlys scholarship; however, please note that you cannot apply for both an Erasmus+ and a Nordlys scholarship.
